

FOOD2020

Future push for the German-Dutch food industry

Cross-border cooperation enables companies to tap into a larger pool of talents, get new ideas and keep updated on global trends.

With Food2020, we support small and medium-sized companies in the food industry in the German-Dutch border region to develop innovative products, processes and services. Together with experts and business-related research institutions we foster technology transfer and innovation development in the participating companies.

Successfully seizing the synergies from cross-border cooperation helps to spur innovation:

Funded projects:

- ✓ Development of bio-based packaging
- ✓ Mobile training of employees
- ✓ Sustainable food production
- ✓ Development of improved working conditions
- ✓ Securing of skilled workers

25 cross-border feasibility studies and ten innovation projects were funded.
